In a nutshell

Main stops

- Aurlandsfjord and Nærøyfjord
- Village of Gudvangen
- Valley of Nærøy

- We will leave from Flåm, on one of the inner branches of the Sognefjord (which, extending more than 200 km inland, is the longest fjord in Norway), and travel the inner edge of the Aurlandsfjord by boat. The word 'fjord' is of Norwegian origin and indicates a marine cove of glacial origin that is usually narrow, with steep shorelines that extend below sea level.

- We will then continue along the Nærøyfjord which, due to its geological features and the incomparable beauty of its natural landscape, was made a UNESCO World Heritage Site in 2005. We will move slowly on across the fjord, which is 17 km in length and roughly 500 m deep, and surrounded by the steep slopes of the mountains (up to 1400 metres), passing waterfalls and navigating narrow sections (the narrowest measures 250 metres).
- Having reached the edge of the fjord, we will disembark in the small village of Gudvangen, where we will board a coach.
- After a stop to admire the view of the wide valley below, we will return to Flåm, retracing the Nærøy valley and crossing a long series of tunnels.
- Places on this excursion are limited. We recommend booking early.
- This excursion is not recommended for guests who suffer from seasickness or guests with mobility problems.
- The boat has seats inside and outside; in the event of inclement weather, you are advised to bring a raincoat and wear appropriate clothing.

AURLAND VALLEY AND ØSTERBØ

In a nutshell

A fantastic tour through one of Norway's most beautiful valleys, the Aurlandsdalen, known as the 'Norwegian Grand Canyon' due to its natural landscapes. It is impossible not to be impressed by its fjords and mountains.

Main stops

- Aurland: Gothic church
- Lake and village of Vassbygda: power lines
- Laavisdal
- Valley of Stonndalen

NORTHERN EUROPE

- Valley of Aurland
- Østerbø: farm and refreshments

The programme

- We will start our coach tour by leaving the port at Flåm and skirting the fjords all the way to Aurland, a typical coastal town with a wonderful stone Gothic church from the 13th century, with windows painted by Norwegian artist Emanuel Vigeland.
- From Aurland we climb the river of the same name - known for its abundance of salmon - and, having passed the Vassbygda lake, we reach the village of the same name. Hydroelectric power is produced here, as you might deduct from the many power lines. The generators are located inside the mountain.
- The road that takes us even higher, up to Laavisdal, comprises hairpin bends and tunnels, giving us a magnificent view of Vassbygda and the region of Aurland.
- We climb further, to Stonndalen, a spectacular wide mountain valley typical of western Norway.
- Finally we will reach the Aurland valley which, with its breathtaking natural landscape, is known as the 'Norwegian Grand Canyon' and is one of the country's most famous tourist routes. The valley, from Geiteryggen to Vassbygdi, is roughly 40 km in length and varies between 50 and 1660 metres above sea level. Along the way, we will admire the spectacular scenery, which is rich in flora and fauna.
- We will cross the valley to Østerbø, a small farm that was inhabited until the end of the 1920s. During the winter, a season that could last from six to eight months in this region, the farm was totally cut off from the rest of the world.
- At Østerbø we will enjoy refreshments, before taking the same road back to Flåm.
- Places on this excursion are limited. We recommend booking early.

Flam STALHEIM AND UNDREDAL

In a nutshell

An exciting tour in the Nærøyfjord, between the picturesque villages of Stalheim and Undredal, where time seems to stand still, and the surrounding steep mountains on which thrilling roads climb. An adventure not to be missed!

Main stops

- Gudvangen and Nærøyfjord
- Nærøy valley and river
- Village of Stalheim and Stalheim Hotel photo break
- Undredal village

The programme

- We leave from the picturesque village of Flåm, at the tip of the Aurlandsfjord, and head for the other side of the mountain and the Viking village of Gudvangen, which is located at the tip of the Nærøyfjord. This fjord, roughly 17 km in length, is part of the larger Sognefjord and is considered to be the most spectacular branch of this fjord. The Nærøyfjord is also the world's narrowest fjord. At one point it measures only 250 m and is surrounded by 1800 m high mountains that loom over its tranquil waters. In 2005 it was made a UNESCO World Heritage Site along with Geirangerfjord, together with which it was also elected by National Geographic as the world's most significant natural heritage site.
- After taking a photo break, we will continue along the Nærøy valley, following the salmon-rich river of the same name, and pushing on to Stalheim on the side of the mountain. Between 1647 and 1909, the village of Stalheim was a resting place for travellers taking the Royal Postal Road between Copenhagen, Christiania (Oslo) and Bergen. In 1780, a road for horses and carriages was constructed and Stalheim became the resting place for postmen who would rest and change their horses after climbing the valley. From Stalheim we can enjoy a breathtaking view of the Nærøy valley and the surrounding mountain range. We will stop at the Stalheim Hotel to take a photo break.
- Before returning to Flåm, we will visit the splendid village of Undredal, renowned for its long tradition of producing goats cheese, both fresh and mature. Undredal has a population of 80 and boasts Scandinavia's smallest wooden church.
- Places on this excursion are limited. We recommend booking early.
- In the event of adverse weather conditions the Stalheimskleiva road may be closed. In this case the tunnel road will be used in both directions.

TRAVEL LIKE A NORWEGIAN BY TRAIN AND BY BIKE

In a nutshell

A journey within a journey. In Norway, train and bike are two indispensable means of transport, and today, you and your small group will gain a better understanding of their special connection with Norse culture and nature. First on the Flåmsbana, a historic railway and miracle of engineering, and then cycling between the waterfalls and through the forest. Watch out - if you already love Norway, you may never want to go home!

Main stops

- Flåmsbana: the Flåm railway line to Myrdal station
- Kjosfossen waterfall: short stop
- Panoramic bike ride back to Flåm

The programme

- The Flåmsbana is one of the most spectacular historical railways in the world: the tracks climb over four hills of different altitudes to Myrdal, which is 876 meters above sea level. Your guide will explain the history of its construction. Do they know everything? Sure - they've lived here for 15 years.

NORTHERN EUROPE

- On the ascent, the fjord will seem bottomless, and your ears will pop: the difference in altitude is 900 meters! You're so high it seems a bit like magic.
- And of course, there's a Norwegian legend associated with this place too: on the train, you will hear the story of the 'huldra', the nymph who seduces men with her singing.
- After the darkness of the Nåli tunnel, the train will come to a halt, with fairytale views of the valley. Shortly afterwards, you will drop back down for an enchanted encounter. With whom? No spoilers!
- When you think you've already seen it all, in Berekvam you'll get back on your bike and retrace your route to Flåm from a new perspective, still in the midst of nature.
- The waterfalls are now even higher, the villages more isolated, the rocks of the fjord steeper. After a day like this, it's impossible not to feel just a little Norwegian.
- Wear appropriate clothing for the trail, without forgetting a windproof jacket and sports shoes, ideally waterproof.
- Helmets and bicycles are provided by the local agency.
- Minimum age: 12 years.
- Maximum weight: 120kg.

Bergen PANORAMIC TOUR OF BERGEN

In a nutshell

An exceptional tour exploring Bergen and discovering its main attractions and its history, from the old capital of Norway to today's fascinating and vibrant business centre, which revolves around the old Hanseatic District of Bryggen where you can still experience the atmosphere of the trade and maritime traditions of the past.

Main stops

- Bergen: King Haakon's Hall, Rosenkrantz Tower, Bryggen Wharf District, the Fish Market
- Nordnes Peninsula,
- Øvregaten, St. Mary's church (outside)

The programme

- We leave the port by coach and set off to explore Bergen, the second largest city in Norway after the current capital, Oslo. Bergen was founded in 1070 AD. Between the 12th and 13th centuries the city was the capital of Norgesveldet, the Norwegian Empire which included Iceland, Greenland and part of Scotland. Bergen flourished thanks to the export of fish (mostly dried fish) which was the city's main product in the Middle Ages. Even after Oslo became capital in 1299, Bergen continued to grow as a business centre, becoming the largest in Norway.
- Our tour begins with some of the city's most important and symbolic landmarks, including King Haakon's Hall (Håkonshallen), the imperial residence with adjoining banquet hall built by King Håkon Håkonsson between 1247 and 1261, and the Rosenkrantz Tower (Rosenkrantzårnet), built around 1560 by the Governor of Bergen Tower, Erik Rosenkrantz, to serve as both as a residence and a fortified tower.
- Our tour then continues to the other symbol of the city, the ancient and picturesque wharf district of Bryggen ('bryggen' in Norwegian means 'wharf'), which was built around 1350 by the Hanseatic League. It is the most enchanting neighbourhood of the city and extends along the eastern side of the port of Vågen, with long parallel rows of coloured buildings with sloping roofs (and leaning walls, in many cases), which are built with rough wooden planks on stacked-stone or wooden foundations. In the past, these buildings were used as offices, homes and stores and were used by the German merchants of the Hanseatic League, which enjoyed a trade monopoly with Norway. Today the Bryggen District is listed as a UNESCO World Heritage Site and boasts shops, restaurants, cafés and artisan workshops.

- Passing by the bustling Fish Market (Fisketorget), we head for the Nordnes Peninsula, with its typical 19th-century white wooden houses. The Bergen Aquarium (Akvariet) at the tip of the peninsula, boasts one of the largest collections of marine and freshwater fish and invertebrates in Europe, in addition to seals and penguins; in the tropical section there are crocodiles, snakes, turtles and monkeys.

SIGHTSEEING TOUR OF BERGEN AND SCENIC FUNICULAR RIDE

In a nutshell

An exceptional tour on which we discover the main attractions and history of Bergen once the hub of the Hanseatic League, now a vibrant, commercial centre that retains its traditional maritime air – before turning our attention to the scenic treasures on show in this landscape of fjords and mountains, with an unforgettable ride in the famous Fløibanen funicular.

Main stops

- Håkonshallen, Rosenkrantz Tower and Bryggen Hanseatic Wharf
- Fløibanen Funicular, Mount Fløien
- Central Park and Lake
- Residential area, wooden houses, gardens, Royal Residence, the wooden Fantoft Stavkirke (stave church)

The programme

- Our tour begins with passing by King Haakon's Hall (Håkonshallen), the imperial residence with adjoining banquet hall built by King Håkon Håkonsson in 1261 and the nearby Rosenkrantz Tower (Rosenkrantzårnet), which was built around 1560 by the Governor of Bergen, Erik Rosenkrantz, to serve both as a residence and a fortified tower. Today it even incorporates part of the keep (1273) of King Magnus the Lawmender and Jørgen Hansson's fortress of 1520.
- We will stop on at the picturesque old wharf district of Bryggen ('bryggen' in Norwegian means 'wharf'), which was built around 1350 by the Hanseatic League. It is the most picturesque district of Bergen, extending along the eastern side of the port of Vågen, with its long parallel rows of colourful buildings. Once, these buildings were used as offices, homes and stores by the German merchants of the Hanseatic League. Today the Bryggen District is listed as a UNESCO World Heritage Site and boasts shops, restaurants, cafés and artisan workshops. We wander around the alleys between the picturesque warehouses that line the street and along the seafront to enjoy the quaint atmosphere of this neighbourhood.
- We then arrive at the Fløibanen funicular station, which has been in operation since 1910. Once aboard, we are transported up the 26% gradient to an altitude of 320 metres a journey of about 8 minutes to reach the summit of Mount Fløien (one of the seven mountains that surround Bergen, its name derives from the wind vane placed at the summit many centuries ago to indicate the force and direction of the wind to sailors entering or leaving the port below). Mount Fløien is very popular with the inhabitants of Bergen as a recreation area all year round. From the summit the view is truly impressive: we can see the heart of Bergen at our feet and looking to the west, on a clear day, you can also see the North Sea, and the neighbouring archipelagos.

- We take the funicular back down, and after boarding the coach, we cross the Fish Market square, with its seafood, flowers, fruit and vegetables and souvenir stalls and we head for the central park and the lake.
- We then go through the residential area, admiring the well-preserved wooden houses, the gardens and the Royal Residence on our way to Fantoft Stavkirke. This wooden stave church, located in an enchanting wooded area to the south of Bergen, was rebuilt in 1992 after a terrible fire and is the exact replica of the original building which dated back to 1150. In the Middle Ages, in Norway, there were at least 800 of these typical stave churches; today there are only 30 remaining.
- Places on this excursion are limited. We recommend booking early.
- In the event of inclement weather, the view from the platform of the funicular may not be ideal; in these conditions you are also advised to wear appropriate clothing.

The funicular is very popular among both locals as well as visitors; therefore, long lines at the Funicular should be expected.

Stavanger TOUR OF STAVANGER AND SURROUNDINGS

In a nutshell

Sample the history of the city of Stavanger, for centuries one of the cornerstones of Norwegian maritime history: from a time when Viking kings fought battles on the Hafrsfjord to modern-day tankers, not forgetting the age of "white sails" and steam ships. Don't miss this opportunity to visit the city and discover its many faces.

Main stops

- Ullandhaug & Iron age farm
- Jæren landscape
- Ryfylke Mountains
- Sverd i fjell (the "Swords in Rock")
- Stavanger Cathedral (outside visit)
- Old Stavanger

The programme

- We will set off from the port by coach through Ullandhaug, an area famous for its reconstructions of Iron Age farms. Ullandhaug also boasts breath-taking views of the Hafrsfjord where, in 872, the Viking king Harald Fairhair defeated the last of the local princes and unified 29 small kingdoms under one crown, founding the Kingdom of Norway. To the east stretches the fertile landscape of Jæren, with the Ryfylke Mountains in the distance.
- We will then continue to the outskirts of Stavanger to admire the Sverd i fjell ("Swords in Rock"), a fascinating memorial by the sculptor Fritz Røed. The monument depicts three 10 metre-high swords that commemorate the historic battle of Hafrsfjord. The largest sword represents the victorious Harald, while the smaller ones symbolise the vanquished kings. The monument is also intended to symbolise peace, as the swords are struck in solid rock, from which they can never be removed.

- We will now pass through both the older and more modern districts of Stavanger; we will admire the outside of the Cathedral, built in around 1125 by Bishop Reinald of Winchester with the help of British craftsmen. Of all the churches built in Norway during the Middle Ages, Stavanger Cathedral is the only one that still retains its original features.
- Before returning to the ship, we will treat ourselves to a walk through "Old Stavanger", with its typical narrow streets lined with picturesque wooden houses that date back to the 18th and 19th centuries, a time when it was home to sailors, craftsmen and merchants. This unique area, located just a few minutes from the port, is now at the centre of the city's most ambitious redevelopment project.
