COLORFUL SNORKELING FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY: WHITE BEACH BY BOAT

WORLD CRUISE

In a nutshell

Climb aboard the boat, put on your mask, and get ready to hear the little ones yelling Look! Swim among the fish in the Coral Garden, head ashore for some sun and relaxation at White Beach, and return with one certainty: provided they're having fun, the day will go by smoothly.

- Boat trip to the Coral Garden
- Snorkeling and the opportunity to feed the fish

Set sail, breathe, and forget about the clock: there's no need to organize anything here: jump on board the boat and let the sea do the rest!

Head to the Coral Garden (the name tells you where the show takes place!), where the water is calm and clear and the fish swim so close that children don't know where best to look. Dive in with your mask and snorkel and swim among a thousand colors, or stay on board and feed the fish: it's always a hit, especially with little ones.

Then head back to White Beach. Here, there is so much wonder, and you can do whatever you like: sun, playing on the sand, a stroll, and then a little local shopping. No schedule, just time to share with the family.

Return to the boat with the salt on your skin, a smile on your face, and one inevitable thought: I want to do it again!

ANCIENT TRADITIONS AT THE MOTANG LIVING MUSEUM: TOUCH, TRY, LEARN

WORLD CRUISE

In a nutshell

Roll up your sleeves and take a step back in time. At the Motag Living Museum, you can plow, plant, thresh wheat and cook rice alongside the locals, just as they used to do in days gone by. Discover a side of the Philippines that has been preserved just as it was before it became modern, and immerse yourself in its most ancient side.

Get your hands dirty, it's part of the experience!

Main stops

- Visit and activities at the Motag Living Museum

The programme

Forget about hushed museums and long signs to read: here, you can step inside, touch, and get involved. After a short trip by boat and over land, you'll arrive in Malay and cross the threshold of the Motag Living Museum, the first living museum in the Philippines, where time has slowed down significantly.

Take a leap back in time to when the islands were very different, before colonization and the major changes it brought. Learn directly from those who still take part in these traditions: try your hand at working the land, plowing the fields, threshing the grain, planting and harvesting the rice, and cooking it as in days gone by. Spoiler alert: it looks simple until you try it.

Then, it's time for a change of pace, as you let yourself be swept away by the more playful side of things: take part in traditional Filipino games, climb up to the tree houses, swing on the swings, try walking on coconut shells, and find out how to make toys and other objects from woven palm leaves. Manual skills are required, but most importantly, it's about fun.

You'll leave with your hands dirty, after plenty of laughs and the feeling of having experienced the culture rather than just observing it. Here, you don't learn by watching: you learn by doing. And you can feel it.

- Guests will be transported to the Motag Living Museum by boat and minivan.
- The experience is not recommended for guests with mobility problems. The tour involves about an hour of walking on uneven ground, and there are also a few steps to climb.
- Only bring the essentials with you, and don't forget comfortable shoes, a hat and insect repellent.
- The tour does not include a guide, but you will be accompanied by a chaperon.

Puerto Princesa Palawan PALAWAN BY TUK-TUK

In a nutshell

Forget the standard, comfortable tourist tours. This is a proper journey! Jump on board a tuk-tuk and get ready to explore the hills with stunning views, multicolored butterflies, indigenous tribes, stone age ruins and stories of wartime. Puerto Princesa is not just ocean: it's an explosive blend of nature, culture and surprises that will make you say Wow!

- Butterfly Garden and Tribal Village
- Palawan Museum

Forget air-conditioned SUVs and minivans: here, we're traveling like real Philippine locals on a tuk-tuk, the most iconic three-wheeler of Southeast Asia. Direction: Mitras Ranch, with incredible views over Palawan. Selfies mandatory.

Then it's off to the Butterfly Eco Garden and Tribal Village, a corner of nature where rare butterflies and insects live in what seems like an exclusive club just for them! It's not only a marvel for the eyes - it's also an environmental awareness project, which hosts endemic and endangered species. But the real surprise is the meeting with the indigenous Palawan tribe: jungle warriors with musical instruments, hunting tools and fascinating stories to tell. If you want to see how people live without Wi-Fi and home deliveries, this is the place for you.

We'll arrive at the Palawan Museum, which is home to exhibits that would make any history lesson seem dull. Here, you'll find objects dating back 22,000 years, including human remains found in the mythical Tabon Caves.

A place that will leave you with a lump in your throat and a lot of questions about humanity.

past at the Plaza Cuartel * Tasting of local beers at the Palaweno Brewery

The programme

You'll set off from the Puerto Princesa Baywalk, where the sea greets you with its briny scent and the waves put on a show. There are no trendy bars selling fruity cocktails here if you're looking to feel refreshed, simply take a few steps toward the sea. The sun is strong and the breeze musses your hair, but that's the whole point. This isn't the place for tourist selfies it's all about soaking up the atmosphere! Next, we're headed for the Immaculate Conception Cathedral, a real architectural experiment. Forget the standard churches that you expect to find the design of this place of worship might make you raise an eyebrow: it's more unconventional than most places in the city, and will have you wondering why no one else has ever thought of building something so... original. Get ready for a more sombre moment at Plaza Cuartel. Here, in 1944, the Second World War left a wound that cannot be ignored a powerful reminder of the cruelty and suffering endured by 150 American prisoners. Darwin
LITCHFIELD NATIONAL PARK

In a nutshell

This absolutely fascinating area, just 80 miles from Darwin, was originally home to the Aboriginal Wagait people. With its stunning tropical waterfalls and swimming holes, this is a truly beautiful destination found just south of Darwin, the capital city of the Northern Territory. Litchfield National Park features numerous waterfalls which cascade from a sandstone plateau called the Tabletop Range, monsoon rainforests, intriguing magnetic termite mounds and historical sites. Termite Mounds - One of Litchfield's unique sights is the hundreds of termite mounds standing almost two metres high in a wide swathe of empty ground. The mounds are like enormous magnetic compasses with their thin edges pointing North-South and broad backs East-West, minimizing their exposure to the sun and therefore keeping the mounds cool for the termites inside. Wangi Falls You will take a short walk to a vantage point where you will be rewarded with spectacular views of the waterfall and serene crystal clear pool below. The falls (pronounced Wong-guy) flow into a large lake surrounded by monsoonal rainforest, making them Litchfield National Park's largest falls and most popular attraction.
